EMPLOYMENT / FELLOWSHIPS

To see additional listings, visit the online career job board at Aumni.Links. Page 2. All job openings are updated, so check back often.

Robert A.M. Stern
Office Tour |

Robert A.M. Stern’s offices to learn about the firm. Meet Columbia employees and Principal Robert A.M. Stern will host a cocktail reception after the presentation. Student registration is limited to 50 people. Sign up will occur via e-mail sent in March.

Food and drinks will be served.

This event takes place from 4 PM to 7 PM in the Cooper Union Atrium.

There are no prerequisites for this event, but those who are interested in architecture are encouraged to attend.

In 1907, The New York Times reported that E. R. Williams, a “colored architect,” was hired to add two introductory spaces to a four-story building. This was a significant moment in the history of architecture in New York, as it demonstrated the recognition and acceptance of Black architects in the city.

Robert A.M. Stern is a leading architect and designer known for his innovative and thoughtful approach to design. His firm, Robert A.M. Stern Architects, has completed projects all over the world, including the Sheep’s Meadow in Central Park and the Robert A.M. Stern Auditorium at the Harvard Design School.

This event is free and open to the public. It will take place in the Cooper Union Atrium from 4 PM to 7 PM. Sign up via e-mail on Monday, March 28.

In 1907, The New York Times reported that E. R. Williams, a "colored architect," was hired to add two introductory spaces to a four-story building. This was a significant moment in the history of architecture in New York, as it demonstrated the recognition and acceptance of Black architects in the city.

Robert A.M. Stern is a leading architect and designer known for his innovative and thoughtful approach to design. His firm, Robert A.M. Stern Architects, has completed projects all over the world, including the Sheep’s Meadow in Central Park and the Robert A.M. Stern Auditorium at the Harvard Design School.

This event is free and open to the public. It will take place in the Cooper Union Atrium from 4 PM to 7 PM. Sign up via e-mail on Monday, March 28.

In 1907, The New York Times reported that E. R. Williams, a "colored architect," was hired to add two introductory spaces to a four-story building. This was a significant moment in the history of architecture in New York, as it demonstrated the recognition and acceptance of Black architects in the city.

Robert A.M. Stern is a leading architect and designer known for his innovative and thoughtful approach to design. His firm, Robert A.M. Stern Architects, has completed projects all over the world, including the Sheep’s Meadow in Central Park and the Robert A.M. Stern Auditorium at the Harvard Design School.

This event is free and open to the public. It will take place in the Cooper Union Atrium from 4 PM to 7 PM. Sign up via e-mail on Monday, March 28.

In 1907, The New York Times reported that E. R. Williams, a "colored architect," was hired to add two introductory spaces to a four-story building. This was a significant moment in the history of architecture in New York, as it demonstrated the recognition and acceptance of Black architects in the city.

Robert A.M. Stern is a leading architect and designer known for his innovative and thoughtful approach to design. His firm, Robert A.M. Stern Architects, has completed projects all over the world, including the Sheep’s Meadow in Central Park and the Robert A.M. Stern Auditorium at the Harvard Design School.

This event is free and open to the public. It will take place in the Cooper Union Atrium from 4 PM to 7 PM. Sign up via e-mail on Monday, March 28.

In 1907, The New York Times reported that E. R. Williams, a "colored architect," was hired to add two introductory spaces to a four-story building. This was a significant moment in the history of architecture in New York, as it demonstrated the recognition and acceptance of Black architects in the city.

Robert A.M. Stern is a leading architect and designer known for his innovative and thoughtful approach to design. His firm, Robert A.M. Stern Architects, has completed projects all over the world, including the Sheep’s Meadow in Central Park and the Robert A.M. Stern Auditorium at the Harvard Design School.

This event is free and open to the public. It will take place in the Cooper Union Atrium from 4 PM to 7 PM. Sign up via e-mail on Monday, March 28.

In 1907, The New York Times reported that E. R. Williams, a "colored architect," was hired to add two introductory spaces to a four-story building. This was a significant moment in the history of architecture in New York, as it demonstrated the recognition and acceptance of Black architects in the city.

Robert A.M. Stern is a leading architect and designer known for his innovative and thoughtful approach to design. His firm, Robert A.M. Stern Architects, has completed projects all over the world, including the Sheep’s Meadow in Central Park and the Robert A.M. Stern Auditorium at the Harvard Design School.

This event is free and open to the public. It will take place in the Cooper Union Atrium from 4 PM to 7 PM. Sign up via e-mail on Monday, March 28.

In 1907, The New York Times reported that E. R. Williams, a "colored architect," was hired to add two introductory spaces to a four-story building. This was a significant moment in the history of architecture in New York, as it demonstrated the recognition and acceptance of Black architects in the city.

Robert A.M. Stern is a leading architect and designer known for his innovative and thoughtful approach to design. His firm, Robert A.M. Stern Architects, has completed projects all over the world, including the Sheep’s Meadow in Central Park and the Robert A.M. Stern Auditorium at the Harvard Design School.

This event is free and open to the public. It will take place in the Cooper Union Atrium from 4 PM to 7 PM. Sign up via e-mail on Monday, March 28.

In 1907, The New York Times reported that E. R. Williams, a "colored architect," was hired to add two introductory spaces to a four-story building. This was a significant moment in the history of architecture in New York, as it demonstrated the recognition and acceptance of Black architects in the city.

Robert A.M. Stern is a leading architect and designer known for his innovative and thoughtful approach to design. His firm, Robert A.M. Stern Architects, has completed projects all over the world, including the Sheep’s Meadow in Central Park and the Robert A.M. Stern Auditorium at the Harvard Design School.

This event is free and open to the public. It will take place in the Cooper Union Atrium from 4 PM to 7 PM. Sign up via e-mail on Monday, March 28.