Cleveland, like many American cities, is inherently conservative in its architectural tastes, but it has always had its share of stubborn contrarians eager to flout local orthodoxy.

John Kelly pairs with Buckminster Fuller to revamp a global clearinghouse for scientific and technical research on metals, plastics, and ceramics, ASM International.

More on the story here:
http://www.metropolismag.com/story/20111018/a-second-chance

---

Events

- Careers in Housing Panel
- Transportation and Health Panel
- “Convergence”

Academic Opportunities

- Scholarship for APA Conference in L.A.
- Fulbright Public Policy Fellowship
- Hart Howerton Fellowship Program
- Asian American Policy Review Call for Papers

Internship Opportunities

- Mapping Intern

Employment Opportunities

- Academics in Expanding Local Food System
Events

Careers in Housing Panel

Presented by USPA

Come hear a panel of experts in the field speak about careers in housing! Panelists will be from the following organizations: Association for Neighborhood and Housing Development, Restored Homes HDFC, NYC Dept. of Housing Preservation and Development, US Dept. of Housing and Urban Development.

RSVP by sending an email to wagner.ocss@nyu.edu with "RSVP for Housing Panel" in the subject.

Tuesday, November 15, 2011
6:00 p.m. - 7:30 p.m.,
295 Lafayette Street, 2nd Floor
Aquino Conference Room

Transportation and Health Panel

Presented by NYU’s Rudin Center, Transportation Alternatives, the Urban Planning Student Association and the Wagner Transportation Association

It’s obvious that when streets are built for walking and biking, it’s easier for New Yorkers to be active. But did you know that streets designed for active transportation can also improve mental cognition and neighborhood social bonds? And how do designers reclaim iconic streets like Broadway in Times Square as places for people? Find out more over breakfast and a panel discussion with experts in health, transportation, and urban design. RSVP at http://wagner.nyu.edu/events/.

Panelists: Claire Fellman, Dr. Mindy Thompson Fullilove, Andrew Mondschein, Moderator: Matt Seaton

Wednesday, November 16th, 2011
8:30 a.m. - 10:30 a.m.,
The Puck Building,
(The Rudin Family Forum for Civic Dialogue, 2nd Floor)
295 Lafayette Street
Convergence

Presented by Center for Architecture

The Center for Architecture will be hosting an annual event, “Convergence” on Friday, November 18 through Sunday November 20. The theme of this year’s event is “POSSIBILITIES.” Convergence is the annual event where architecture students from the tri-state area come together in New York City for various discussions and seminars, firm crawls, tours, and social events. This will be an excellent networking opportunity.

Registration will be from November 1st to the 15th. The cost will be $25 for schools within New York City, and $40 for everywhere else. Registration for this event will also give students membership for the Center of Architecture for next year.

To register for the event, go to the following link: http://cfa.aiany.org/index.php?section=calendar&evtid=3779

Please see attached flier for more information.

Friday, November 18th to Sunday, November 20th, 2011
AIA New York Center for Architecture
536 LaGuardia Place
Academic Opportunities

Scholarship for APA Conference in L.A.

Long Island Section of APA

The Long Island Section of American Planning Association’s NY Metro Chapter is pleased to announce that we will be awarding three Arthur Kunz Memorial Scholarships.

The scholarships will enable awardees to attend the APA National Planning Conference, April 14th to 17th in Los Angeles, California.

Please see attached flier for more information.

Fulbright Public Policy Fellowship

2012 - 2013 Fellowship

The Fulbright Public Policy Fellowship, a component of the Fulbright U.S. Student Program, will be inaugurated in academic year 2012-13. The Fulbright Public Policy Fellowship will allow fellows to serve in professional placements in foreign government ministries or institutions and gain hands-on public sector experience in participating foreign countries while simultaneously carrying out an academic research/study project.

U.S. Embassies, Fulbright Commissions (where applicable), and host country governments will coordinate appropriate professional placements for candidates in public policy areas including, but not limited to, public health, education, agriculture, justice, energy, environment, public finance, economic development, information technology, and communications.

Candidates must be in receipt of a master’s or J.D. degree by the beginning of the Fellowship (Summer - Fall 2012) or be currently enrolled in a Ph.D. program. Applicants must also have at least two years of work experience in public policy-related fields.

For more information on how to apply please visit http://fulbright.state.gov/grants/fulbright-public-policy-fellowship
Hart Howerton Fellowship Program

We are pleased to introduce the 2012 Hart Howerton Fellowship Program to both undergraduate and graduate students in planning, architecture, landscape architecture and urban design who will be entering their final year of study in September 2012. Hart Howerton is excited about providing an opportunity to students to enrich their experience in their fields of study.

In 2005, Hart Howerton began an educational initiative to fund a select number of Fellowship positions for students at design schools. Each summer Fellowships allow the firm to employ several students in planning, architecture and/or landscape architecture under a single program, mirroring our firm's dedication to the working integration of those disciplines in how and what we design. The Fellowship also provides a component of funded travel for research on a topic that each Fellow selects.

As a result of the Fellowships, schools have had the ability to graduate students with the added advantages of professional office experience, collaborative, interdisciplinary design, and worldwide travel and research. The perspective gained from a carefully defined program within a global design practice has helped students effectively define the choices available after graduation, and more confidently approach the decisions they need to make.

The benefit to Hart Howerton has been tremendous - the energy, enthusiasm and input of new designers in the process of learning, who are laying the foundation for the next generation of design thinking. The firm’s Fellowships underscore Hart Howerton’s commitment to continuing educational opportunities - for our clients, staff and the wider professional community.

Hart Howerton defines an 8-week ‘assignment’ as part of an existing firm project, followed by the Fellow’s self-defined, approved topic of travel study. The 3-week travel periods findings are prepared, upon return, as a report presented by the Fellow to the firm.

Please see attached flier for more information.

Asian American Policy Review Call for Papers

We seek papers exploring 1) the social, economic and political factors impacting the AAPI community and 2) the role of AAPI individuals and communities in analyzing, shaping, and implementing public policy. We strongly encourage submissions from writers of all backgrounds, including scholars, policy makers, civil servants, advocates, and organizers.

Please see attached flier for more information.
Mapping Intern

The Design Trust for Public Space

The Design Trust for Public Space, a nonprofit organization dedicated to improving public space in New York City, seeks an unpaid mapping/graphics intern to produce maps related to two ongoing projects: Five Borough Farm, which is developing strategies, policies, and tools to strengthen urban agriculture in NYC; and Making Midtown, a plan for the Garment District.

We’re looking for someone who’ll be available 1-2 days/week for the next four weeks. The intern will work with the Director of Programs and with a team of architects, planners, policy experts, graphic designers, and web developers. All work the intern produces will be credited in our final project websites and publications.

Candidates must be proficient in GIS and Illustrator. This position is available immediately. If interested, contact Jerome Chou at jchou@designtrust.org with 3 work samples and a CV.
Employment Opportunities

Academics in Expanding Local Food Systems

Andrew Boyd is apart of a non-profit initiative to increase opportunities for organic local food in the urban communities of Yonkers. We are looking for an professional evaluator with a social science background to conduct a yearly review of our efforts.

If there are any Columbia Professors that specialize in sociological methodologies, urban studies and or food issues, please contact Andrew at agb2113@columbia.edu.