

Christopher Whitelaw

191 Claremont Ave, #54
New York, NY 10027
646.331.0905 (phone)
jcw65@columbia.edu

education

Master of Architecture Columbia University,	2002
Bachelor of Science in Architecture Georgia Institute of Technology,	1997
Georgia Tech Paris Program University of Paris, La Villette,	1996

teaching positions held

Founder and Co-Director with Caterina Tiazzoldi Nonlinear Solutions Unit, Columbia University, GSAPP	2005
Adjunct Assistant Professor of Architecture Columbia University GSAPP	since 2002
Visiting Professor University of Pennsylvania School of Design	2004
Visiting Professor Pratt Institute School of Architecture	since 2003
Digital Media Critic Princeton University School of Architecture	2002-2003
Lecturer DCD Lecture Series, Columbia University GSAPP	2003
Lecturer Not Not Architecture Lecture Series	2002
Design Review Juror Columbia University, Pratt Institute, City College, RPI, Princeton University, University of Pennsylvania	since 2002

courses and seminars taught

Applied Responsive Device, Columbia University GSAPP	fall 2005
DigiFab - Parametrics, Columbia University GSAPP	fall 2005
DigiFab – Puzzling, Columbia University GSAPP	summer 2005
Design Studio – morphogenetic morphodynamic Assistant to Bill Macdonald, Columbia University GSAPP	spring 2005
DigiFab – Assemblage, Columbia University GSAPP	spring 2005
DigiFab - Intelligent Machines, Columbia University GSAPP	fall 2004
Design Studio – studioMuten Assistant to Sulan Kolatan, University of Pennsylvania Advanced Digital Modeling, Pratt Institute	fall 2004 spring 2004

Introduction to Digital Modeling, Pratt Institute	fall 2003
Fundamental of Digital Design, Columbia University GSAPP	since 2002
Applied Digital Techniques, Princeton University	fall 2002

exhibitions

Beyond the Media, Curator Marco Brizzi	2005
SAFE, Museum of Modern Art collaboration with kol/mac for INVERSAbrane	2005
End of the Year Show, Columbia University work from seminars and workshops taught personal work as a student	2003-2005 1999-2002
Young Architects Forum : America Institute of Architects	1996

publications

Process is the Pollywog, Karla Maria Rothstein Studio Works 11	2003
The New York Times Magazine, The Masters' Plan design team of ROY Design	sept 2002
Architecture Magazine 20+22 Renwick, design team of SR+T Architects	jan 2002
Not Not Architecture, editor Andrew McNair	2002
Abstract, Columbia University GSAPP	since 1998

awards

Honor Award for Excellence in Design in recognition of high quality of work in the design studio sequence	2002
Electronic Media Award, 2002 for innovation in digital technologies within the studio sequence	2002
P/A Award - Citation, 2002 for 20+22 Renwick, executed in the employment of SR+T Architects
3rd Place, Velux Design Competition 3rd year design competition at Georgia Tech, College of Architecture	1996

professional work

ALSAIC, partner development of algorithmic pattern for light diffusion architectural panels	2005
w.inc.design.build, partner Coombs Residence, renovation, Atlanta, Georgia	2005
Marsh Residence, renovation, Atlanta, Georgia	2005
The Fort, renovation (unrealized), Atlanta, Georgia	2005
Metropolis Residence, penthouse renovation, Atlanta, Georgia	2004
Evans and Paul Ultd., fabrication consultant Mott Street, commercial façade prototypes, New York City	2005

kol/mac, consultant
INVERSAbrane, commercial façade development, New York City	2005
Great Egyptian Museum, design competition, Cairo	2002
ROY, project manager
The Master's Plan, NYTimes Proposal for Ground Zero, New York City	2002
Mobile Elvis, travelling Elvis Exhibit	2002
SHoP, Sharples Holden Pasquarelli, designer
Aspen Residence, Aspen, Colorado	2002
Heyri Art Complex, exhibition hall, Seoul, South Korea	2002
The Porter House, 10-Story Mixed-Use Condominium, New York City	2001
SR+T Architects, designer
20+22 renwick , schematic design and feasibility study, New York City	2001
WDG + Associates, project designer
high-rise commercial and multi family buildings in Washington DC	1998-1999
LBA + Associates, project manager
Commercial interiors from 1000 – 250,000 sf in Atlanta, Georgia	1997-1998
Chris Jarrett Architects, designer and builder	1997